JACKSON CITY ITEMS

Local Happenings About Amador's County Seat

The board of supervisors will meet next Monday in regular monthly session.

The city clerk will send out the sample ballots for the forthcoming city election early next week.

In the absence of definite bids for the several parcels of real estate belonging to the estate of S. W. Bright, Mrs. Bright bid in all the property. Parties will have the right to raise the bid on any particular parcel when the matter comes up for confirmation on April 7.

Judge Fred V. Wood returned from Inyo county on Tuesday night, where he was called to preside at the trial of a murder case.

The Red Front store of Jackson announce a special sale to be held next week, in their ad on page 4

Services were conducted in the Greek church at Jackson last Sunday at 9:30 a. m., and 7 p. m. Rev. Sebastian Dabovich, conducted both meetings, and preached to a well filled house.

Miss Alma Cassinelli has accepted a position in the Jackson post office, to get acquainted with the business.

Frank Cuneo came up from St. Mary's college in Oakland to spend the Easter vacation.

Miss Eva Deletis is home from Sacramento, where she is attending school, for a few days' visit with her relatives.

Central Hotel Changes Hands.

Alex Eudey last Monday purchased from Chris Marella the Central hotel building on Main street, the price being $4750. The sale was effected in short order. Mr Eudey came here from Oakland Sunday evening, and early the next morning the bargain was closed, the money paid and the transfer made. All sorts of rumors were floated as to the object of this move. Some said it was with the idea of starting a new bank, others that a third butcher shop was the object in view. Probably all these wild theories are far-fetched. The lease of the occupant, Peter Genolio, has nearly one year to run yet, so that the new proprietor would have to buy the lease in order to get possession for the purpose of starting for himself. Others believe that the property was bought for speculation or investment and perhaps that is the most reasonable explanation.

Luka Pendo Laid To Final Rest

Luka Pendo, a young Austrian, died at Frank Simcich's on Broadway on Tuesday morning, after a long illness of consumption, at the early age of 23 years and ten months. Deceased had been a resident of Jackson for several years. Some three years ago he met with an accident in the Oneida, while working as a miner. He was severely hurt in the leg, and never recovered from that mishap sufficiently to be able to work as a miner. He afterwards learned the barber trade, and returned to this town and opened a shop in the Muldoon saloon building, where he eked out enough to pay his way. His health compelled him to quit this employment about six months ago. From that time the inroads of the dread disease made rapid headway, and consumed his remaining strength. The funeral took place yesterday, interment in the Catholic cemetery. Deceased was a single man, and has no relatives in this state except an uncle in Watsonville. He was a member of the Austrian Benevolent Society, and his brother members turned out as a body to attend the last sad rites.

Women's Exchange.

The ladies exchange to-morrow afternoon, will be in the office of Geo. W. Brown on Main street, and will be in charge of Mrs. M. Williams and Mrs. E. Bastian. They will have something good to tempt the appetite. Call on them.

Bright Future for Kennedy Extension

The Kennedy Extension commonly known as the Muldoon mine located south of the Kennedy is said to look very promising for the developing into a dividend paying mine.

Though only down 800 feet, a ledge has been discovered which is reported to be of paying grade. It has been cut in five places, and work at cross cutting is still being pursued.

The mine was opened about a year ago and steadily developed since.

TWO KILLED IN NINE DISASTER

Track Defected and Skip Jams in Shaft at Central Eureka

An appalling disaster resulting in the death of two miners, Arthur Davis and an Italian named Paul Bossatti, occurred Friday last at the Central Eureka mine, located on Sutter hill one mile south of Sutter Creek.

According to the story of a miner who was working at the mine, and who saw the remains of the mangled men, we learn the following account of the accident. About 4 p. m. the skip started for the surface, carrying 4 men, Davis and Bossatti were staying on the bale of the skip, and two other miners were sitting in the bucket. When the 700 level was reached, the strap iron secured to the track upon which the skip travels, and which is supposed to have become loosened, allowed the wheels of the skip to run in back of the iron, throwing the skip against the hanging wall of the shaft, and crushing the men. The car tearing the iron loose continued on its upward course, running over the two men who fell to the sump or bottom of the shaft completely mangled.

James Davis, foreman of the mine, was inspecting the work at the bottom of the shaft, when suddenly all tallows were snuffed out, and a crash and splash caused the men for a time to suppose timbers had become loosened, and were falling. After lights had been again lit, the workmen discovered the remains of the dead miners. While trying to get them out.

Easter Services Greatly Enjoyed

Service commemorating the risen Christ were greatly enjoyed by a large audience who attended the Methodist Church last Sunday evening. The altar was wreathed in garlands of myrtle, apple blossoms, bridal wreaths, palms and lilies. The exercises opened with a song by the church choir, followed by prayer by the pastor. Six small boys in a recitation entitled "Little acts of kindness" very creditably said their parts. Master Raymond Travaskis followed with a recitation.

A solo by Mildred Oliver and six small girls was greatly appreciated. Emerson Harrington did himself credit in reciting "Smile whenever you can." Master Merwyn Burrow told his hearers he was one year older and received deserved applause. A recitation and song entitled "Child's evening prayer" by Gertrude and Ruth Harrington was executed in a most interesting manner. Harriet Fisher spoke a piece entitled "Why I love Easter Lilies." Ten girls recited a piece entitled "Lilies."

Little Miss Wylie delighted everyone with a solo, she was accompanied by her mother.

Vivien White recited "Lead Kindly Light," and a song entitled "Alleluiah" was rendered by the church choir.

Gertrude Kirkwood recited a selection entitled "Mary." A motion song "Two little eyes" by five little girls proved enjoyable. "Rock of Ages" recitation was very ably delivered by Miss Laura Parker. An exercise entitled the "Easter King" by 12 girls and boys was greatly enjoyed. Orion Burrow recited "Little Offerings," the choir rendering the closing features by singing "Sound Ye His Praise"

Card of Thanks.

The family of the late Joseph Wrigglesworth Sr., wish to express their heartfelt gratitude to the many friends and neighbors for their help and sympathy in their late bereavement.

New Tennis Ground For Jackson's Team

The L'Allergo tennis club, a crowd of Jacksons tennis enthusiasts, have organized under the above name, and began the construction of a new tennis court on the summit of Peek's hill.

The court, when finished will be equal to many of the professional grounds. It has an area of 60 by 120 feet, and will be fenced in by a 12 foot screen. The outlay thus far has been nearly $120 for improving the grounds. The committee have a lease for 5 years to the place, which is expected to be in readiness for a game scheduled on the coming Sunday, among local players.

The executive committee in charge of the grounds are, J. F. Wilson, Harvey Mason, R. S. Bierce, R. S. Rainsford, A. W. Sutherland.

The members are, Dr. J. F. Wilson, president; Dr. A. W. Sutherland, vice president; Ernest B. Spagonli, secretary; Julius A. Piccardo, treasurer; Harvey Mason, Ralph S. Bierce, T. A. Hedgepath, G. W. Brown, Robert I. Kerr, R. S. Rainsford, Frank Valvo, Joe Phelps.

Episcopal Church Sadiy Neglected

Improvements at the Episcopal church are underway, which are much needed. A new porch will be built, and several minor repairs made.

The ladies guild are arranging to hold a supper and bazaar about the first of April and thereby raise funds enough to defray expenses, which the church property has incurred.

It is to be regretted that a city as large as Jackson, cannot afford to support a pastor at this church. There have been quiet a few transient people asking about services, and we feel sure the town has any number of citizens who were raised in the doctrine of the Episcopal church. Will some kind reader offer a suggestion, whereby something can be done in this line.

49 Flat Mine Near Volcano to Build Mill

A mine christened the '49 Flat back of telegraph hill, and just north of Volcano has been furthering plans which will bring it into the limelight of mine history shortly. This mine was prospected for many years and considered by many as a bad proposition.

The drift of 900 feet in the side of the hill now warrants a complete plant, which has been ordered, and about the first of April a force of men will commence erecting a mill, etc.

St. Patrick's Church Have Special Services

Easter services at St. Patrick's church was appropriately observed by an 8 o'clock mass and a mass at 10 a. m.

Rev. Gleason spoke from the 16th chapter of St. Mark, on the resurrection dawn, portraying the glorious promises of the coming resurrection to all christian believers, and holding before them the assurance that while in Adam, all died in sin even so in Christ are men saved unto life eternal. The discourse was extremely interesting, and was appreciated by a large audience.

REBEKAH LODGE CELEBRATES

Hold 31st Anniversary of the Organization of the Lodge

The Rebekah lodge of Jackson celebrated the 31st anniversary of its organization last evening in Odd Fellows hall in a very enjoyable manner. At 8.30 the lodge was called to order and the lodge hymn was the initial exercise.

A piano solo entitled "The Flatterer," was ably rendered by Misses Amy Clark and Emma Parrow. A piano solo by Marie Weller was greeted with deserved applause.

Mrs. Avise rendered a song which enabled her to display her beautiful soprano voice.

Benjamin Waller recited "Revere's Ride." A piano solo by Luella Mounter was nicely rendered. A song by R. Mason entitled "If I had a thousand lives," showed excellent control of a fine bass voice. Miss Sutherland accompanying on the piano.

Judge Fred Wood related an amusing story, which imparted additional life to the gathering, and followed by describing the necessity of the lodge in the progress of the world. He gave the biblical history of Rebekah friendship, and urged the continuation of this great work.

An appropriate reading, by Maud Vandament was enjoyed. A piano solo by Miss Mae Rose was skillfully given, and received due applause.

Mrs. Waller read a selection entitled, "Buying her first stamp," in which was more truth than fiction.

Jackson Military Band Serenades City

The Jackson Military band favored the city with a general open air serenade on Saturday night. The organization is composed of a select class of musicians who interpret and render their selections in a most classic manner. The band is composed of the following members:

S. H. Schultz, director, Geo Schacht, J. A. Cademartori, J. D. Palmer, Charles Green, Charles Rugne, Frank Cardinali, S. F. Dal Porto, John Bat-chelder, A. J. Leverone, H. E. Kay, V. Belluomini, Bert Ventorini, John Rule, Frank V. Sanguinetti, Wm. M. Penry, Jr., Paul Parker, Cleveland Jones, J. L. Fontenrose, A. W. Sutherland, Guido Giannini, B. F. Gilbert, Ernest Tam, C. P. Vicini.

We trust these concerts will continue as their music kills the monotony of the quiet town, and gives the visitor a better impression of the city and its people.

Sheriff Returns from Trip

Sheriff Gregory, who has been touring the county, collecting taxes, has finished his task, and will turn in his report on Monday.

Valuable Horse Injured

A valuable horse belonging to James Hulme, superintendent of the Kennedy Extension mine, became entangled in a barb wire fence, and had one of his fore legs so badly cut that the animal will be out of service for at least three months. Dr. W. M. Brown of Mokelumne Hill is attending the horse.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued since our last report:

John E. Tengove, 26 and Oda V. Amick, both of lone and natives of California.

Samuel A. Poletti, 26, and Minnie I. Stark, 19, both of Jackson and natives of California.

MINE NEWS ALONG LODGE

Bunker Hill Mine Doing Remarkably Well Say Reports

Bunker Hill.—The drift in the 1950 level has reached a distance of nearly 300 feet. It is thought the main ore body may be reached in another week or so. The 1750 level has opened up beyond all expectations both in size of the ore body and richness. It is eleven feet wide, and about 800 feet long, all milling ore. Such a shoot of fine pay rock is phenomenal. It is the best level that has been opened, and leaves little room to doubt that it will continue in the level now being run 200 feet deeper. They have recently put in a distillate forge for the sharpening of drills, which has proven a big saving over the old coal method of heating the drills. The saving effected by this new process is estimated at fully $3 per day. The improvement was carried out by the superintendent E. H. Harrington, who conceived the idea that a distillate furnace would prove both efficient and economical. He made the change himself, and it has worked to a charm. With coal the cost of fuel was about $4 per day, whereas under the new system it has been reduced to less than $1. Besides which the drills are heated much quicker, with less loss of steel from oxidation.

Champion.—This property has been bonded by Geo. W. Brown and others. It is situated in Hunt's Gulch, and as far as prospected is a promising property. We understand the object of the

Base Ball Grounds In Fine Condition

The baseball grounds located in South Jackson are receiving their initial dressing for the coming season. A large scraper is used in leveling the field, which when finished will be one of the best diamonds in the country.

S. M. Spagnoli, manager of Jackson's team, is securing all the available material that play fast ball, and expects to be able to give a roster of his players in our next issue. The past record of this bustling manager is warning enough to other country teams to practice hard if they expect to be able to play ball with the county seat team.

A Jackson Booster

A cement sidewalk is being laid in front of the Grotto saloon, next to Tam's dry goods store. This makes a decided step forward in that section of Main street. It is hoped that other property holders on both sides of the street in that locality will follow the good example.

Man Accused of Murder Acquitted

The murder case tried before Judge Wood in Inyo county last week resulted in a verdict of acquittal. The defendant's name was Cyty, and he was charged with the murder of a man named Smith. The killing took place in Death valley in November, 1908. The affray was in the nature of a duel, the quarrel arising out of a dispute over a mining claim. Cyty was tried before and was found guilty of manslaughter. He was granted a new trial by the appellate court. The district attorney in the first trial was elected judge, and was thereby disqualified from acting in the second trial.

Inyo county has a population of less than one half that of Amador county. There were eleven prisoners in the county jail there at the time of Judge Wood's visit, with but four in the Amador jail. They are building a new jail in Inyo, which will have 16 steel and cement cells. From this it would seem they look for increased business in the criminal line over there.

Vetrinary To Locate Here

Dr. C. C. Golding, a graduate as a veterinary surgeon, has concluded to settle in the practice of his profession in Jackson. He may be expected to reach here within a few days. There is field for a veterinary in Amador county, and Jackson is the most suitable place for headquarters.

REPUBLICAN PARTY AND PROSPERITY.

It is only history repeating itself when organizations or individuals clothed with authority and power are made the objects of denunciation and abuse. Human nature is many-sided. It is perhaps true that all its varied moods are necessary to the make-up of a progressive nation or community, still it must be admitted that all are not equally commendable. In the clash of ideas—founded upon the inherent differences in mentality—we see the origin of political parties. At the outset such parties are composed of men moved mainly by patriotic impulses and honest convictions. Parties are numerically weak at the start, and it is inconceivable that men would desert the stronger for the weaker body unless prompted to such a course from a conscientious sense of duty. When parties are firmly established and more equally balanced, movements from the ranks of one to the other are often governed by selfish considerations, and unreasoning abuse of the higher-ups and the party in general follows as an inevitable result.

The republican party has been in control of the affairs of the United States for 49 years, with two periods of interruption of four years each under Cleveland and democracy. In its long record of supremacy it has much to be proud of and little to be ashamed of. Measured by its achievements it has done more for human weal, as well as the progress of the United States, than any other party that has existed within historic times. In the past fifty years the United States has advanced with marvelous strides to the foremost place among the nations—in population, in wealth, and the volume of its domestic and foreign commerce. Fifty years ago it stood fourth or fifth in these respects as compared with European countries, being exceeded in one or more of these features by Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia. To-day its commerce is equal to that of all these four nations combined. This unparalleled progress, in spite of all assertions of political opponents to the contrary, has been brought about by the wise policies inaugurated by the republican party. The impartial verdict of history in time to come, when passion and prejudice have ceased to warp the judgment, will credit the work of the republican party as one of the most important epoch-making periods in the world's onward march.

It cannot be denied that there is considerable factional feeling within the republican ranks. The insurgents' course in congress is ample proof of this; and of the further fact that the spirit of discontent is abroad in the ranks. Democrats are bending their energies toward widening the breach, in the hope of reaping political advantage for themselves. That is perfectly justifiable from their standpoint. But the insurgent republicans have assumed a grave responsibility in breaking faith with their brother republicans, and aiding the opposition party on a partisan issue. This is an off year in national politics. But congressmen have to elected. The republican majority in the present house of representatives is so insecure that the defection of a few insurgents is sufficient to overcome it. Apprehension is felt that the democrats may gain enough seats this year to secure a clear party majority in the lower branch of the next congress. Republican stalwarts on the floor of congress are free to admit the danger of this outcome. And the recent capture of an heretofore invincible republican district in Massachusetts by the democratic candidate helps to increase this misgiving. But with control of the popular branch of congress the democrats could do nothing in the way of reversing republican policies and substituting their own instead. They would be baulked by a republican senate and president. Still there can be no doubt that a democratic success even to that ineffective extent would operate as a scarecrow upon business interests throughout the country. Would the masses of the voters in that event correctly gauge the situation and apply the remedy by restoring the complete ascendancy of the republican party, or would they be misled as to the true cause of the hard times and travel still further in democratic pathways, thereby going from bad to worse. We are inclined to think democratic control of this nation, notwithstanding the insurgents' aid, is yet a long way from realization.

SPEAKER CANNON'S NOBLE STAND

Rather Keep Republican Faith and Fail Than Disrupt Party, He Says

In his address before the Illinois Republican association, speaker Cannon spoke frankly, freely and forcefully, touching on the events of the day, though he had previously said he would not. Speaking of the contests of life, he said:

"We have just had a contest to-day. The public believes we have forty-four republican majority in the house and a majority in the senate. We have not a real republican majority in either. Tomorrow some newspapers will tell the truth about what occurred to-day. Some will suppress the news. Some will speak of czarism and Cannonism. The record stands, and whether or not we have a majority in congress will perhaps be demonstrated at the next election. To-day they destroyed the rules committee and provided a new committee on rules with ten men. I hope it will operate well, but it will depend upon the membership and patriotism of the ten composing that committee. The Sunday papers to-morrow will say the speaker said that this was a government by the majority and that when a new majority was formed to-day the speaker welcomed the resolution declaring the office of speaker vacant.

Insurgents Lacked Courage. "The resolution was offered and we proceeded to elect a new speaker. Of the men who had been denouncing the speaker, of the genuine followers of La Follette and Cummins, there were only eight who had the courage to vote with their new allies, and the balance were too cowardly, and would rather explain than tell the truth. I want to say that the speaker, who was elected last March by twenty-six votes, after they had to-day refused to turn him out on his own invitation, was elected over again by a majority of thirty-seven.

"I am proud of the state of Illinois, God bless the Keystone state of Pennsylvania. New York is first, Pennsylvania second and Illinois third; I am gratified to tell you that while republicans were solid to-day for organization, the state of Illinois, the state of Lincoln, like the state of Pennsylvania, stood solidly for organization. Whatever the metropolitan press and uplift magazines may say, the state of Illinois, like the Kentuckian takes his whiskey, takes its politics straight.

Rather Keep Republican Faith. "Yet there are men claiming to be republicans who are running along the highways of populism trying to outrun Bryan. I would rather belong to the party of Lincoln and Grant and Garfield, the party of McKinley, of Roosevelt, of Taft—the party whose policies have substantially brought us to our great prosperity, in spite of the charges made from pulpit, magazine, newspaper, stump or Chautauqua; I would rather keep the republican faith, and march under the republican flag advocating republican policies and fail, rather than march with the men who would disrupt the republican party and succeed.

"There is not one who lives without labor, mental or physical, but who adds to the civilization and progress. Some people are waiting for the millenium. I do not want it to come at any time unless the Almighty reaches down his hand and changes the human heart. Then, there are those who would use all the wires to the great white throne and will not permit their neighbor to have the use of a single wire. Some people think that they, with God, make a majority, forgetting that God is a majority in himself.

Raps Uplift Magazines. "Yet, any man has a right in the United States to be a crank or a reformer if he wishes to. Some claim a monopoly on all the knowledge yet that is their right. As long as an individual does not interfere with any one else he is within his rights, yet at times it makes things uncomfortable. We are satisfied with our country and there is not one of us who would swap the United States of America for any county in the world. It is a popular thing with the uplift magazines to decry organization. They will not be satisfied until they govern the United States. The trouble with them is, that a small majority in the name of these "uplifts" do not have the power to make the balance of the 90,000,000 bow to them.

"What if this lump of clay before you drops dead? What will these uplift magazines which have been slandering me for so long, do? My two daughters and son-in-law, with the two grand children, will be sorry, my personal friends will be sorry, but the balance of the world will not have time to be sorry."

(Incorporated) which owns and controls one of the greatest sources of water power in the West at Kennett, Shasta County, California.

ELECTRIC POWER

Generated by the natural fall of a great river, offers the safest investment of the present day. Crops and mines may fail, factories and banks may close their doors, but the Sacramento River will never cease to supply its power; and electricity, for operating railroads, for hoisting works, mills and smelters at mines, for running all forms of machinery at factories and on farms and for the lighting of towns and cities, is a staple article in ever-increasing demand.

Situated at the head of the great Sacramento Valley, with electric roads projected in every direction and being rapidly built, only 275 miles from San Francisco and Oakland, and 185 miles from Sacramento, to which points electric power is now transmitted from Shasta County, the market is practically unlimited.

Send your address at once and let us tell you how you can make an investment now which will increase in value ten times within a few years and yield a good income for all time.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience gormousness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

AT CITY PHARMACY JACKSON

How to Eradicate Dandruff.

A hair tonic which is excellent when bothered by dandruff is made of five ounces of bay rum, half an ounce of tincture of cantharides and half an ounce of glycerin. This should be applied to the scalp every night before going to bed. It is well to remember in applying any tonic to the scalp that it is not so much the amount you put on your scalp that counts as it is the amount you force your pores to absorb. If you will stroke and pat the scalp gently you will notice that it will respond to the treatment and absorb more of the liquid than if you merely wet the scalp thoroughly and permit the solution to soak in and dry.

How to Wash Spinach.

If housewives and cooks would only remember to wash spinach in scalding water they would not only get it much cleaner, but kill all insects and worms which may happen to be clinging to the under part of the leaves; also the process is a much quicker one than when clean cold water is used, and the spinach itself takes on a fresh greenness that is unexpected considering the temperature of the water. It should not, however, be washed until immediately before putting into the saucepan.

How to Cleanse the Teeth.

It is more important that the teeth be cleansed thoroughly at night before retiring than at any other time. A good alkaline mouth wash should be used. Rinse it thoroughly through the mouth and force it through the teeth by means of the tongue. Hold the liquid in the mouth two or three minutes. The mouth with this treatment is put in an antiseptic condition and offsets to a large degree injury to the teeth from acids. Use a fairly stiff toothbrush.

How to Cook Venison Steak.

Fry until almost done in a small piece of butter. Season with salt and pepper and then add a cupful of sweet cream. Let boil until it thickens.

How to Perfume the Breath.

It is considered bad form to perfume the breath so that it can be noticed easily, but nothing can be said against perfuming it just enough to sweeten it. Buy a piece of orris root and chew just a small piece of this. A clove placed in the mouth, but not chewed, will give an odor of carnations to the breath. If the clove is chewed it must be swallowed right away or the odor will become too strong. It is said a bit of myrrh held in the cheek will give the breath a delicately sweet odor.

How to Make Giblets Gravy.

Clean and wash the giblets and put them up to boil in a small pot, well covered with water, and season them with salt and a little pepper. Let them boil till tender, then drain off the broth, but do not throw it away. Chop up the giblets fine and put back in the broth, make gravy in your usual way, strain, and when ready to serve add your chopped giblets.

How to Make Pumpkin Bread.

Stew a good sized pumpkin as for pies, mash fine and make stiff with flour. Add a teaspoonful of salt. Mix well and turn into a greased bread pan and bake in a slow oven for three hours or more. This may be eaten hot or cold, but is best if, when cold, it is cut into thick slices and fried, then served with jelly or a sweet sauce.

How to Avoid Poison Accidents.

To prevent accidents with bottles containing poison buy a dozen tiny bells and every time a bottle of poison is brought into the house tie a bell to the neck of the bottle. Even in the dark the bell will tinkle its warning.

The Dictionary.

If you want to be really interested, read the dictionary. It will tell you how very badly other people spell our language and incidentally what a tiny cupful of words we each dip up out of its ocean.

Drink Crazy Man a Suicide

There was a tragedy in Columbia last Sunday morning. About two o'clock a. m. of that day, John Miller went to the home of Mrs. Dora Kress, where he was rooming. Made desperate by the liquor and crazed by the ghost that has been a tormenting hell to him the past two years by reason of discordant marital associations, he was in the mood to perform any rash act. Entering the house, he staggered into the chamber occupied by Mrs. Kress, seized her by the throat and dragged her from the bed. Her screams awakened her sons Lawrence and Albert. Before they appeared he loosened the woman, struck a match and lit a lamp. He passed into his room, secured a revolver, returned and flourished it in the face of Lawrence. Albert and his mother attempted to wrest the weapon from him. In the scuffle the boy was knocked down. Mrs. Kress fled from the room. As she passed through the door he snapped the pistol at her. It failed to shoot, he said: "See, it won't go off." When she reached the yard she heard a shot. Then Miller placed the muzzle of the revolver against his forehead and sent a bullet into his brain. He fell dead.—Banner.

News of Interest from Towns Surrounding County Seat

From Ione Echo.

One day last week Lawrence Gregory was on a ramble in the hills at the east end of Jackson Valley, and stopping to get a drink from a small pool, he espied a neat nugget at the bottom. He quickly fished it out and upon weighing it found its value to be a little more than $4.

Last Monday J. W. McMurry placed on the Echo tablet a hen's egg which measured 5-3/8 inches in circumference one way and 7-1/8 inches the other.

During the storm of Saturday afternoon lightning struck an oak tree in the rear of J. M. Gregory's barn.

Miss Daisy Fox and H. Harrison of Portland, Oregon, were quietly married in Sacramento last Sunday. Miss Daisy has been one of our popular school teachers for a number of years and her many friends in Ione will wish her all the happiness that can fall to the lot of ordinary mortals.

Anson V. Prouty has received his credentials as census enumerator. The papers came last Tuesday. His territory embraces all of township 2, including the Preston school.

During the storm the other day Sutter Creek rose to such a point that fording it was out of the question, and people from the lower end of the valley were compelled to come up to the bridge for a crossing.

The rainfall for the storm to date, Tuesday, has been 3.36 inches. Last season to same date we had 2.62 inches.

Rumors of a fabulously rich strike in the Crystal mine at Angels have been rife all the week. According to the story which reached San Andreas an entirely new shoot of ore had been struck in this mine at the 300 foot level, the vein having been cut to a width of twelve feet, eight feet of which was exceedingly rich in free gold, one piece of 900 pounds being taken out that was over half gold. The same story was to the effect that $200,000 had been taken out in four days.

This mine has recently been acquired by James V. Coleman and adjoins the Angels and Lightner on the south and is now being worked as a portion of the Angels quartz mine. It is one of the old mines of Angels and in the early days yielded some exceedingly rich ore. On calling up Mr. Fullen the superintendent of the mine by phone Thursday he informs us that the story of the strike is untrue. That no new strike has been made in the mine and though the developments which have been going on for three or four months are looking favorable, the ore taken out is of about the same quality as has been the yield right along. The shoot was struck about four months ago.

In the San Francisco Chronical of the 24th we see that James V. Coleman in an interview makes the same statement. He says that the profits of the mine are about the same for the past month as they have been and will not exceed $10,000. The extent of this shoot has not yet been determined and Mr. Mullen states that while it may yield $200,000 it has not yet done so, and they have no separate record of its product.—Prospect.

The new Serbian Catholic church at Angels and Altaville was dedicated last Sunday morning with very impressive services in the Serbian language by Rev. Sebastian Dabovich of San Francisco. Rev. Dabovich will remain in Angels and have charge of the church work for some time. He is a divine of much note, and is one of the leading men of the Serbian church in North America.—Citizen.

Some days ago Frank Solinsky Jr. lost a valuable hunting dog from Moke-lunne Hill and offered a reward of ten dollars to any one who would find him. One day this week Phil Cramer, who drives the butcher wagon for Walter & Nuland ran across the dog out on Willow Creek. He tried to capture the dog, but could not succeed, so went to Fourth Crossing and telephoned to Solinsky, who at once went out and captured the dog. The ten dollars was cheerfully paid to Phil.—Prospect.

Mrs. William Thomas Jr. of San Domingo died at her home at that place last Sunday, after a few hours illness, of ptomain poisoning. It has been difficult to learn many particulars, as the Thomas home is remote from communication. They resided on what is known as the Keiffer place at Dogtown on the San Domingo, and it was there that the sad event took place. As near as we can get at the facts the poisoning occurred from eating canned peas, she being taken sick about 10 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and death followed at 7 o'clock the same evening.—Prospect.

Old Pioneer Passes
Away at lone

Nelson Draper, one of the pioneers of Amador county, passed peacefully to his long rest at his home in lone on Monday last, after a protracted sickness, incident to advanced years. The funeral services were conducted at the residence in lone, by Rev. Jackson, Wednesday, and thereafter the remains were brought to Jackson, and interred in the city cemetery by the side of a child, who was buried here many years ago. A large cortege from the valley town followed the remains to this city, including the following who acted as pall bearers: Jos Carpenter, W. Carlisle, W. H. Prouty, Gus Cottell, H. Stewart, and J. McMurray. Rev. Jackson of lone officiated at the grave.

Deceased was a native of Connecticut, aged 75 years. He was esteemed by all who knew him as a man who strove conscientiously to perform his part in all the activities of life. The principle of righteousness and a high sense of duty were firmly unprinted in the mind. He leaves three sons to deplore the passing of a kind and loving father.

Deceased was a resident of Jackson in pioneer times. He was a carpenter by trade, and for years occupied the business premises on Water street, now owned by the Garbarini brothers as a machine shop. Here he carried on business for years under the firm name of Nelson & Agard. In the 70's he moved with his family to lone, where he has continuously lived up to the time of his death. Deceased was a subscriber on the books of the Ledger ever since the writer has been connected with that paper—for 35 years. He was a strong believer in the principles and policies of the republican party.

The writer recalls an incident which occurred in the Christmastide of 1878. The editor of the Ledger was at that time in the county jail for an alleged contempt of court in publishing an article entitled "A Model Court" bitingly criticizing the devious ways in certain criminal trials. The county was in a ferment of excitement over the affair, and it commanded attention from the press of the entire Pacific coast as an attempt to impair the liberty of the press. On that Christmas day, deceased and another resident of lone, W. P. Hayes, long since deceased, traveled from the valley town, and called upon ing to identify the unfortunate victims, one of the miners asked the foreman if he knew who wore a wrist strap. The foreman's reply was, "It is my brother Arthur," words can never describe the sensation of picking up the half crushed skull of a brother, whom he had spoken to but a few seconds before, more than 2500 feet down in the bowels of the earth, with only the ghostly flicker of a tallow to recognize his features, said a workman, but Jim,—mean og the foreman was cool and collected all the time."

MINE DISASTER

The two victims fell from the 700 level to the bottom of the sump, a distance of over 1800 feet. It is supposed the sudden jerk of the skip when it came in contact with the obstruction on the track dashed them against the shaft wall, causing them to let go their hold on the cable, and they were crushed against the shaft. Life was probably crushed out of both before they started on their downward flight.

The shaft is sunk on the incline, and the track upon which the skip runs is laid down to the timbers by means of spikes. With the heavy wear and friction the spikes are apt to become loosened, and one man is usually charged with the duty of examining the track carefully at short intervals to see that everything is safe and in good order. This was the case at the Central Eureka. How the weak spot escaped detection will never be explained. The engineer felt the obstruction, and the skip was brought to a standstill, the turned turtle, but not sufficiently to disturb the two men seated in the bottom, who escaped unhurt.

Coroner H. E. Potter was notified of the tragedy, and held an inquest the following day. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Davis' remains were taken to Berkeley, and interred on Monday last, and Bosotti was laid to rest at Sutter Creek. A popular subscription has been taken up to defray the expenses of sending Mrs Bossatti and her child back to her relatives in Italy from which country she journeyed about 22 months ago to meet her intended husband.

Mr Davis came to Sutter Creek about 10 years ago from his home 2600 Chenningway, Berkeley, and married the daughter of B. Brignoli, of Sutter Creek to which union a child was born. The wife and child survive the unfortunate man. The Italian also leaves a wife and child to mourn his untimely death.

Davis was formerly shift foreman at the South Eureka, but a few months ago changing his place of employment, secured work at the Central Eureka, where his brother James Davis is the foreman.

DONT HIDE YOUR MONEY

The man who hides his money because he assumes to be afraid of banks forgets that it was the bank that perhaps made the prosperity possible which gave him his money making opportunities. Without the bank there would be no large commercial or business enterprises possible, salaries and wages would be low, and money making impossible. It is the bank in the exercise of its function in gathering together the funds of a community and putting them into active use that has brought prosperity. To hide money is to hinder and hurt prosperity by restricting the circulation of money. Bring your money to the bank.

I am prepared to go out as nurse to sick ladies in confinement. Mrs. E. S. Pitois, No. 73 E. Court street. m18

Alex Eudey came up from Oakland Sunday, on business, and to visit relatives.

Miss Mae Rose, who has been employed in the Ledger office for several months, has been compelled to resign her position, on account of the sickness of her mother.

Alphonse Ginocchio returned from a business trip to the city Friday evening.

C. Dal Porto, who has been confined to the Jackson hospital, and who was operated upon by Dr. Endicott, has returned home well. Dal Porto has been operated upon for appendicitis in San Francisco, some time ago, and the last affliction was an outcome of his earlier trouble.

The young lad named Digitali was released from the hospital fully recovered from his appendix operation. This was a severe test to the surgeon in charge, who deserves the new appendix scalp he has added to his belt.

George B. Heath, special agent for the Pacific States Savings & Loan Co. of San Francisco, arrived in Jackson this week. Mr Heath was here last summer for the first time, and says he was treated so kindly he is glad to come again.

Phil Roberts, foreman of the Fremont mine, who has been taking a vacation in Jackson, for the past two weeks, left for the mine on Saturday last, accompanied by his wife and daughter Luella. Mr Roberts is much improved in health by his lay-off. He has gained four pounds in weight, and feels better in every way.

Jas. J. Wright has been appointed census enumerator for the city of Jackson. The actual field work of taking the census will commence after the 1st of April. It is reported that W. K. McFarland has been appointed enumerator for township three.

An election for school trustees is being held to-day in all school districts in the county. In Jackson district J. R. Huberty's term expires, but he is a candidate for reelection, and so far as we have learned has no opponent.

L. Vogeli has commenced work in remodeling the premises on Main street formerly occupied by Opie Harper as a saloon. L. Lamb and Geo. Schacht are doing the work. The old front is to be entirely replaced by a fine modern glass front, and the interior fixed up in good shape for the convenience of the jewelry business.

AN EASTER DISCOURSE

Notes Taken From the Sermon at Methodist Church

At the morning service the pastor, Rev. Thos. H. Nicholas, preached an Easter sermon on "The one question of humanity, 'If a man die, shall he live again?'"

This he designated as the greatest question of the age, beside which all social and political questions pale in insignificance. The pastor made it plain that this question has been asked by all classes and by all ages, and dwelt upon the answers that have been given to it. He spoke of Emerson's answer, "Why need we trouble ourselves to answer the question at all? Immortality! we shall have it if we deserve it. He supposed that Emerson meant by this answer that if we are not immortal, all the arguments in the world cannot make us so; and, on the other hand, if we are, all the materialism that ever has been or ever will be, can never rob us of the life that God has given us.

He also dwelt on the answer given by John Stuart Mill, which he spoke of as subtle philosophy which was not helpful to us, stating that it matters a great deal whether we believe in the doctrine of immortality or not, for our lives and our actions must be more or less the result of what we believe, and spoke of the doctrine of immortality as a very important doctrine, and the keystone of Christianity.

He said the doctrine of the soul's immortality is peculiar to Christianity; yet it has engaged the thoughts and the attentions of the wisest men in all ages, and gave several short illustrations showing that the most ignorant races believe in a life beyond the grave, and make preparation for it.

He spoke of man's nature crying out for immortality, and of Job's question, as a very human question, stating that the soul longs for immortality, and shudders at the thought of annihilation, of going down to the grave, and being forgotten for evermore.

He dwelt on the negative answer to the question, the answer of atheism. The atheist stands up before the world and says, "there is no God, and there can be no immortality, and showed plainly that an atheist is no more than an animal, no better than a heap of organized dust, a machine, a body without a soul. The preacher endeavored to show that the man who has no God, and no hope of immortality is to be pitied, that he sees his loved ones one after another lowered into the grave, and has no hope of ever seeing them again, for to him there is no other life.

Rev. Nicholas dwelt upon another class of answers from those who endeavor to stand neutral, who say: "We don't know, and it matters not, nobody ever came back from the grave to tell me, I have never seen God, how do I know that there is such a Being; How do I know that Jesus Christ was the son of God? And all this talk of God and of Christ, and of the Holy Spirit of sin and of holiness; of eternal death and eternal life, of rewards and punishments in a future state of existence may be nothing more than an invention of the priesthood.

He dwelt in these answers, and showed that it does matter; that we cannot help thinking about it, and being greatly interested in it and then spoke of Christianity as giving the best answer to this great question, that Christianity answers this question in the affirmative. Christ said, "I am the resurrection and the life."

The preacher said that we must not look in the grave for that which is not here. What we deposit in the grave is only the covering—the shell or the house in which our friend lies.

The bible tells us that there will be a resurrection, but it is to be a resurrection of the spiritual body, we are told that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God.

He stated that the apostle likened the resurrection to a seed sown. The seed is put into the ground, it decomposes, the old shell passes away, but the principal of life remains; in a short time it appears above the ground with green leaves. The preacher stated that there may not be a single atom of the grain of corn in the new plant, yet the seed has not perished, there it is again, the same, yet not he same. The principal of life has according to some mysterious law taken to itself another body of quite different particles, yet the plant is the development of the same seed, and not of another seed, so also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption, but the life, the real self remains, to take to itself another body suitable to its changed place and needs, and it may be to take a more glorious form than we have any conception of.

Rev. Nicholas then dwelt upon the resurrection of Christ; that the whole christian church has for nearly 2,000 years believed in the resurrection of Jesus. Christ's death was not apparent, but real; the piercing of his side, the flowing therefrom of blood and water, the actual burial, the grief of the apostles, and the positive statements of the scriptures prove beyond the possibility of a doubt that the death of Christ was real.

The preacher stated that the apostles were not the victims of the some hallucination, they were eye witnesses, they visited the sepulchre, and found it empty. He stated further if it had been possible to produce the body of Jesus to disprove the resurrection, the bitter opponents of Christianity would have done so. There is abundant proof that Christ arose from the dead; that he appeared to a great many witnesses. He stated that the doctrine of a resurrection may appear strange to a great many, but the evidence for it is infinitely greater than that against it. The preacher spoke of this belief in immortality as the holiest and most inspiring thing under the sun, that it fills us with courage, and makes us rich in anticipation of future blessedness. The preacher spoke of the other life as better than this, that it will be free from all embarrassments, and anxieties, and suffering, and what in all true Christians there is a longing of immortality.

He spoke of this land, as the land of the dying, and of the other, as the land of the living, that there they live and never die. The preacher stated that the answer to Job's question is direct, we shall, we are immortal, because God has told us so, because it is his will; we have begun to exist, we shall exist forever. We shall all live in the eternal state, either forever glorious with God in Christ, blessed with the holy angels, forever shut in from all danger and alarms, or, in that place for banished spirits who have shut themselves out from God, and who find that God has shut them out from him. The sermon was closed with the statement, you will die, but after death, you will live again, somewhere, where? And with the question, where will you spend eternity? Stating that each person must answer this question for himself, that out afterstate will be what we make it. That if we will, we many all meet in the glory land, amid the brightness of an everlasting day.

Alcohol to Children

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely. Children do not need stimulating." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Then ask him about Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla as a tonic for the young. Follow his advice. He knows. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

The first great rule of health—"Daily movement of the bowels." Ask your doctor if this is not so. Then ask him about Ayer's Pills. Sold for nearly sixty years.

NERVOUS WRECK MADE HAPPY

A well known and highly respected lady of Cosumnes is Mrs. J. F. Grimshaw. She, like many others of her sex, was a victim of severe headaches and extreme nervousness—had been a silent sufferer for years, and in fact was almost a nervous wreck. But the fame of Fer Don's Medical Expert Specialists and undisputed proof of the wonderful cures effected by them in cases similar to her own, led her to seek their advice. In speaking of the relief obtained after treatment administered by these experts, Mrs. Grimshaw was very enthusiastic, saying:

"I was troubled with a chronic nervousness and the most awful headache imaginable. My temples would throb until it seemed they must surely burst. My digestion was impaired, I had dizzy spells, and black specks would appear before my eyes. I was in such a condition that I was unable to do my own housework, and became so melancholy and sad that at times I almost wished myself dead.

"All this happened before I began taking advice and treatment of Fer-Don's Medical Experts, at 1010 Eighth street, Sacramento. No all is changed. After only two treatments I began to improve. I gradually grew better day by day, until now am really enjoying life again, have no desire to die, and all the world seems bright and full of happiness and sunshine, where before all was dark and gloomy clouds and shadows. I feel like an altogether different woman, and to Fer-Don's Expert Specialists belongs all the praise."

LIBERAL OFFER.

All persons who call at the headquarters of Fer-Don's Medical Experts, 1010 Eighth street, Sacramento, between now and April 15, 1910, will be treated by them for cost of medicine only. No extra charges are made beyond the price of the medicine received in each case to complete the cure, except a fee of $1.00 for examination. This offer expires April 15, and will positively not be extended.

REBECCA LODGE ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. B. F. Taylor, a past noble grand, spoke a few words of praise for her lodge, and was followed by Mrs. Penry, who described the first meeting 31 years ago. Mrs. Penry is one of the original members, six of whom are living, and four were present at the meeting. Mr. Penry was called upon, and told how the lodge had held its own since its organization.

A wee tot, Frances Penze, recited "Little Bo-Peep," and was heartily cheered.

Mrs. Arise concluded the program by reciting "Barbara Freitche." The members and invited guests then marched into the dining hall, where plates were set for 60, and an elaborate luncheon was served. The dining hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

W. C. T. U. Worker Dead

Mrs. Mary Holbrook, an active worker in the W. C. T. U. cause, died in Stockton last Sunday. Deceased was the mother of Mrs. Jas Mortimer of this city, and leaves, beside a husband, two other daughters and one son. She was a native of Pennsylvania, aged 67 years 8 months and three days. Mrs. Mortimer went down to Stockton some weeks ago to attend her during her illness.

bonding is to develop it to a point that will give some insight into its value, with the view of disposing of it, or securing outside capital to place it on working basis.

South Eureka—A new drift on the 5th level of the South Eureka has entered pay ore. The ledge is now opened from the 5th to the 27th level, running 40 feet wide in some sections. The committee of men who have been sampling the mine for the past few weeks with a view of purchasing the concern, finished their work this week. No statement relating to the probability of selling the mine could be verified.

Johnson Copper Mine.—Work was brought to a standstill at this mine two weeks ago. The first payment on the purchase price fell due at that time, and the parties interested were unable to meet the obligation, which we are informed called for $12,000. An extension of time was asked for, and this question has not been definitely settled; pending a decision work has been suspended. A new shaft has been sunk on the property, close to the old shaft, and the mine prospected a few feet deeper than the old workings. A vein of ore has been cut five feet thick, and said to assay $35 per ton in value. It is an excellent showing, and there is little doubt work will be resumed at no distant date, if not by the same company, by others.

CALIFORNIA'S FIRST GOLD

How the World's Greatest Mines Were Found

In the April number of the Pacific Monthly, John L. Coman has an article upon "How the World's Greatest Mines Were Found," and therein occurs the following:

"How gold was found in California is an oft-told tale, but the story of its discovery is not so well known. In 1820, the Right Hon. Edward Ellice was engaged in exploring the past and little known territory between the Rocky mountains and the Pacific ocean, north of the Spanish possessions. One day the captain of one of his ships took to him a magnificent specimen of gold quartz, that had been obtained from an Indian in the Sierra of the present state of California, and urged him to send a party to make a full investigation. However, the honorable gentleman was single hearted in his devotion to the pursuit of purely scientific knowledge, and refused to burden his mind with anything so trivial as a possible gold discovery. Years afterwards, when California had set the world aflame, he exhibited the quartz specimen before the Royal Institution of London, and told its story. An article, published in Chambers Journal, lamented his lack of foresight, calling attention to what might have been. If Ellice had followed the clue given him, the English would have been the first to occupy the territory south of the Columbia river. A gold discovery in the California Sierra would have been followed by British occupation of San Francisco. And endless amount of diplomatic bickering would have been saved, and a boundary line would have been established that would have rendered the Webster-Ashburton treaty forever unnecessary.

Remarkable Record for Pastor

Rev. C. L. Fisher, now a member of the Baptist church at Woodland, Cal., was born at Norwich England, December 26, 1817. He is therefore in his 93rd year. He came to America with his parents in 1827, settling in Utica, New York. He there united with the Baptist church. He was ordained to the ministry at Montello, Wisconsin, in 1853. Rev. Jonathan Post Moderator. He had pastorates at Shields, Bell Prairie and other places in that state. His first sermon on the coast was preached in Oregon City, Oregon, in 1860, during Hezekiah Johnson's administration. He was the first pastor at Salem Oregon; while there he was also in the House of Representatives in '62 and '63, as "Sergeant at Arms" and also school superintendent part of the time, and land surveyor during leisure moments. He had pastorates at Fort Bragg, Westport, Red Bluff and Santa Clara, California. Elder Knapp aided him in special meetings at Santa Clara. He was also pastor at Santa Cruz, and supplied the first church of San Francisco for some time after Dr. Cheney left it. He was colporter one year under the Baptist board. He built the first Baptist church of Nevada, at Virginia City and had two pastorates at Reno. Two months ago he preached the funeral sermon of his next neighbor and last Sunday morning he preached for the second Baptist church of this city.—Pacific Batist.

Improving Store Room

P. L. Cassinelli is making considerable improvements to his grocery store. He is excavating in the rear, so as to throw an additional twenty feet into the store. He will also remove the middle brick wall, and place a steel beam under the ceiling to afford ample support for the upper story. This will also add to the room in the store.

THROW OUT THE LINE

Give the Kidneys Help and Many Jackson People Will be Happier

"Throw out the life line"—The kidneys need help. They're overworked—can't get the poison filtered out of the blood. They're getting worse every minute. Will you help them? Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair. Will cure any form of kidney trouble. George McKeen, 416 Nineteenth street, Sacramento, Calif., says: "My kidneys were disordered for a long time causing acute pains through my loins. In spite of all the doctoring I did, I found no relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They gradually removed the symptoms of my trouble and before I realized it, I was cured. The years that have elapsed have only served to strengthen my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills and I am glad to say that I have never suffered from kidney complaint since."

Hunt Jay Birds

The long-talked-of jay bird hunt took place last Sunday in accordance with the last schedule. The day was one of the fiercest, as far as the weather was concerned, of the stormy winter months, and the rain came down in torrents the greater part of the day. The hunters, or most of them, were game though, and were out on schedule time despite the storm, and spent the hours set aside for hunting in tramping the hills, and gathered in 659 of the enemies of the game birds and songsters. Of course, the inclement weather made the jays somewhat scarce. The highest number killed by a single hunter was 57, and John McFall, Jr., was the man who made the score.—Citizen.

A New Politician

F. G. Stevnot of Carson Hill announces himself in this week's Prospect as a candidate in the Republican Primaries for the joint Assembly district comprising the counties of Calaveras, Amador, Alpine and Mono. Mr Stevnot is the first candidate on deck so far. He is well known in this county having been born and reared at Carson, where his father was one of the leading citizens, and where the son has followed worthily in his father's footsteps. He is a 'live one' and takes active interest in all that pertains to the county's welfare. Should he receive the party vote he will stir things up and be a hard man to defeat.—Prospect.

The superintendent of the South Eureka proposes to do his hauling, and for that purpose has shipped in some fine heavy draft horses.

Deafness Can not be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars or any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A Floating Electric Repair Shop—Ultra-Violet Rays in Manufacturing—Minuteness of Meteors—The Old Alchemy and the New—No Disease Germs in Plants—An Improved Battery—Sad-Iron Disinfection—Straw Matches—Metals in Films.

The success of welding by electric arc has led to the formation of three welding companies in different parts of Sweden, and one at Gothenburg has placed its plant on an old barge that can be towed alongside any steamer needing repairs. The outfit, as described by A. Scott Younger, includes a small marine boiler, with a De Laval turbine, working two direct-current dynamos. Duplicate cables can reach on board the steamer and to the inside of the boilers if necessary, and make it practicable to do repairs in two places at once. One end of the barge has a workshop, with anvil and vice-benches and a full equipment for small repairs. The anvil block is a steel slab 10½ inches wide by 2½ deep supported on two wooden trestles, and the negative from the dynamo is clamped to it, the positive being the holder—with insulated handle—held in the operator's left hand. The current passes through the jaws holding the specially prepared rod—3-16 inch in diameter—used for welding. The piece to be welded, with chamfered edges, are secured in position on the anvil block, the rod is touched to the point to be welded and slightly withdrawn, and the electric arc thus formed quickly melts the end of the rod, causing a drop from it to adhere to the work. This is hammered and the process repeated. A great variety of work can be done, and in butt welding a practical rate for ¾-inch plates is about 10 feet an hour.

A curious German use of mercury-vapor lamps is to supply ultra-violet rays for making sulphuric acid. Sulphurous acid gas mixed with air is introduced into a lead-lined tower sprayed with fine jets of water, and the ultra-violet radiation in the tower entirely converts the sulphurous into sulphuric acid. The acid solution is made stronger by using it instead of water to spray successive towers.

Shooting stars have been estimated by W. H. Pickering to vary, if of the third magnitude, from 6 or 7 inches in diameter to a mere grain. From stellar measurements, C. Fabri has calculated that such a meteor 100 miles away would be an inch in diameter and weigh about 5 grains.

The ancient alchemist sought to transmute inferior metals into valuable ones, but Sir William Ramsay's transmutation theory supposes that heavy elements are degraded into lighter ones by a breaking up of their atoms. In his early experiments the exposure of chemically pure sulphate of copper to radium emanation yielded a product that showed the spectrum of lithium. His conclusion that the heavy copper was degraded into lighter lithium has been questioned by several chemists who have repeated the experiments including Madame Curie, the discoverer of radium. The idea of atomic degradation seems to have taken strong hold of Sir William, however, and his latest work has led both himself and his assistant to believe that the elements silicon, titanium, zirconium, lead and thorium have been degraded by exposure to the radium emanation, into carbon, a lighter element of the same group. Whether this vindicates the degradation theory as fully as is supposed remains to be seen.

In the general microbe scare of recent years, danger has been seen in green vegetables, but this fear—like others—has been lately shown to have no real foundation. The supposed discovery of soil microbes in the interior of vegetable stalks led to the conclusion that there is great risk in the use of sewage and even of ordinary manure in market gardening. Investigation further, Remlinger and Nouri have been trying in all possible ways to infect plants with microbes, and have uniformly failed to get colonies of microbes from the inner parts of the infected plants. They regard their evidence as conclusive that germs remain on the surface only of plants, never penetrating into the interior.

The so-called dry battery is an electric cell really containing a liquid or paste whose drying out—as on standing on a shelf—destroys the usefulness of the battery; but a unique new battery cell, called the Anhydrous, is dry until put to use, so that it may be kept in store indefinitely without depreciation. It simply contains the necessary chemicals in a dry state. A little water poured through a special opening puts it in action, and then, beginning perfectly new and fresh it serves the usual purposes of the "dry" battery.

Ironing the outer garments as well as the underclothing has proven to be a valuable method of disinfecting and preventing the spread of disease. Prof. K. Svehla, of the Bohemian University of Prague, found it troublesome to disinfect with formalin vapor the long linen coat he wore on visiting contagious cases, and he made 200 experiments with sadiron heated to 85 deg. to 50½ deg. F. Linen, woolen, and cotton cloths of various texture and every grade of thickness were tested, pure cultures of the bacilli of typhoid, diphtheria, dysentery, etc., being rubbed on them before ironing. One application of the hot iron was found to sterilize all fabrics superficially, and lawns, handkerchiefs, fine napkins, etc., throughout their thickness. Heavier fabrics, like the Russian linen used for his protective gown, needed ironing at least twice on each side to ensure sterilizing the interior. In heavy woolen cloth the ironing did not sufficiently heat the interior, and thorough sterilization was impracticable. Superficial disinfection proved not so valueless as might be supposed. Infection on such materials as velvet and flannel remained on the surface a long time, and it was concluded that all danger from sputum and pus may be averted by ironing.

For the matches made at Sholapoor, India, the abundant grass of the region is used instead of wood. The grass is cut into two-inch lengths, winnowed and screened into uniform sizes, and is then boiled five minutes in paraffin and dried in a rotating drum. Deposited in horizontal layers by shaking through a horizontal sifter these stems are secured in a frame. They are dipped in a solution of chlorate of potash, sulphate of arsenic, bichloride of potash, powdered gypsum and gum arabic. An ingenious device forces some matches forward so as to avoid striking together. Six pounds of dipping mixture and 21 pounds of paraffin suffice for 7000 boxes of 80 each.

For producing thin metallic films, Prof L. Houllévigue, a Frenchman, first deposits the metal on a platinum wire and then heats this in a high vacuum. The volatilized metal forms a film on a plate of glass rotated near the heated wire. Films of gold, platinum, silver, copper, iron, zinc, tin and cadmium have been formed.

MAN'S STRENGTH
Maximum Strength Reached Usually at 31st Year.

Inasmuch as a man's muscles develop with use, it would appear logical that the older he gets the stronger he should become, but such is not the case. Experiments made with thousands of men show, says Harper's Weekly, that the muscles of the average man have their period of increase and decline, whether he uses them much or little. The average youth of 17 has a lifting power of 280 pounds. By his 20th year his power has increased to such a degree that he should be able to exert a lifting power of 320 pounds, while his maximum power is reached in his 30th or 31st year, 365 pounds then being recorded. At the expiration of the 1st year his power begins to decline, very gradually at first, falling but 8 pounds by the time he is 40. From 40 to 50 the decrease of power is somewhat more rapid, having dropped to 330 pounds at the latter age, the average lifting power of a man of 50, therefore, being slightly greater than that of a man of 20. After 50 years the decrease of strength is usually rapid, but the rate of decrease varies so suprisingly in individuals that it has been impossible to obtain accurate data as to average strength after that age.

Acknowledgment blanks for notaries, specially printed for Amador county, may be had at the Ledger office. Price 50c per packet of 50.

Work on Mother Lode.

Advices from along the Mother Lode and east belt in California show that a considerable revival on mining is taken place in those localities. Many of the old mines, some of which have been shut down for as much as thirty years, are being pumped out and opened up with every indication of again entering the list of dividend payers. The Central Eureka, which was practically shut down and abandoned for a time last year, has been opened up again by a few energetic spirits among the stockholders, and its sock is once more an asset. The South Eureka, which adjoins it on the south, recently struck a large body of rich rock in the lower levels, and its stock has taken a sensational turn upwards. The Argonaut, Kennedy and others are paying monthly dividends with clock-like regularity, and so on along the lode. It is lamentably true that few Californians appreciate the possibilities of mining in their own state, and it takes outsiders to discover it for them. The men who once made California famous as a mining center, are for the most part dead, and the generation which followed them lacks the initiative daring which characterized the Argonauts. Those who are now seeking to open up our mines are principally from other states.—Pacific Miner.

Saved from the Grave.

"I had about given up hope, after nearly four years of suffering from a severe lung trouble," writes Mrs M. L. Dix, of Clarksville, Tenn. "Often the pain in my chest would be almost unbearable and I could not do my work, but Dr. King's New Discovery has made me feel like a new person. Its the best medicine made for the throat and 'lungs.' Obsolete coughs, stubborn colds, hay fever, la grippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis and hemorrhages, hoarseness and whooping cough, yield quickly to this wonderful medicine. Try it. 50c and $1.00. Sutter Creek Boy Faces Serious Charge

We are in receipt of news from Coalinga, Fresno county that Daniel Trudgen killed a man named Jack Neville at that place Tuesday evening. According to the report of an eye witness the two men were standing in front of a saloon engaged in an argument, when Neville made a remark which his assailant took as an insult. Before any one could intervene Trudgen shot Neville. Trudgen was born and raised in Sutter Creek, the son of Daniel Trudgen and wife, who are filled with grief over this sudden trouble. Robert Trudgen, a brother of Daniel, left for Coalinga this morning.

Sutter Creek Lady on School Board Ticket

Mrs Bayliss C. Clark is a candidate for school trustee in this district, put forward by the ladies' improvement club. Mrs Clark is well qualified and able to fill this position. It is also fitting that a lady should be on the board of trustees. We trust there will be no opposition.

Communications Must Be Signed

We have received a communication from Clinton which we are compelled to leave out, for the reason that the writer has failed to send his or her name. A newspaper may once in a while publish a communication even though the same is not accompanied with the writer's name, but this is the exception to a well established rule, and cannot be repeated. We must have the true name as a guarantee of good faith, and as a safeguard against imposition. A publisher will not divulge the name of a correspondent so long as the writer acts in good faith. If the publisher, however, finds that a correspondent is trying to deceive him by sending items that are not true, whether in a joking spirit, or from other improper motives, the pledge of secrecy is removed, and it becomes no breach of newspaper ethics to give information to any party who may feel aggrieved by such conduct on the part of a correspondent.

A Disclaimer.

It having been reported that we were the authors or responsible for the items from Clinton which appeared in the Ledger columns last week, we desire to say that neither of us had anything whatever to do with writing them or sending them for publication.
